(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Los Angeles, Cal., April 22.—More than one-third of the business district of San Jacinto and a smaller proportion of that of Hemet, both in Riverside county about seventy miles east of here, were in ruins today and scores of residences in the two little towns were wrecked by a series of earthquake shocks which caused all of southern California to tremble late yesterday afternoon. The property damage is estimated at from $100,000 to $150,000 in the two places. Half a dozen other towns and cities including Los Angeles suffered minor damage, confined mainly to plate glass windows and shattered cornices.

Hemet and San Jacinto have populations of less than one thousand each. They are about three miles apart and lie in a picturesque country which was made the scene of Helen Hunt Jackson's novel "Ramona." Only one life was known to have been lost, that of Frank E. Darnell, a retired manufacturer of this city who was drowned when he fell off a pier at Santa Monica, a beach resort near here. Hundreds of pleasure seekers on the pier made a wild dash for solid ground when the shock came at 3:33 p. m. and Darnell was swept from his feet. Persons in scores of theatres and motion picture houses in this vicinity were frightened and many suffered slight injuries in their rush to the exits.

When night fell over the partly ruined towns of Hemet and San Jacinto order had been restored and organizations of home guards patrolled the streets. Four blocks of San Jacinto's business district were wrecked and one block at Hemet.

NOTED GERMAN AVIATOR KILLED IN SOMME VALLEY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, April 22.—Captain Baron von Richthofen, the famous German aviator has been killed. Renter's correspondent at British headquarters reports.

The captain was brought down in the Somme valley. His body was recovered and will be buried today with military honors.

Since Captain Boelcke was shot down in October, 116. Captain von Richthofen has been the most prominent and successful German aviator. On April 8th the German war office announced that he had achieved his seventy-eighth aerial victory, although in this as in previous citations he was not credited explicitly with having brought down an allied airplane.

Captain von Richthofen first came into prominence as leader of the "Flying Circus," a squadron of German aviators which fought in a peculiar circular formation, following each other around so that in case one was attacked the next flyer could sweep the antagonist from the rear. Recently Emperor William conferred upon him the Order of the Red Eagle.

An official statement reported aerial operation issued yesterday at Berlin said:

"Baron Richthofen, at the head of his trusty chasing squadron on Saturday gained his 79th and 80th victories."

HALF OF THIRD LIBERTY LOAN IS SUBSCRIBED

Total Sum Over $1,500,
000,000 With Reports
Still Pouring In

ENDEAVORING TO MAKE THIS RECORD WEEK OF CAMPAIGN

Every Town and County In Oregon Subscribes
Its Quota

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, April 22.—Half of three billion dollars minimum sought for the third Liberty loan remains to be subscribed in the remaining working days of the campaign. Early reports today to headquarters indicated that the total has been raised above $1,500,000,000. Reports already in show $1,456,585,100.

This covers only part of Saturday's business and represents an increase of $85,000,000 over the total reported Saturday night. Local committees in hundreds of communities sent word today that they would try particularly hard to make this the record week of the campaign and they counted strongly on patriotic celebrations Friday, designated by President Wilson as Liberty day, to swell subscriptions.

Railroad employees over the whole country are subscribing liberally. R. H. Ashton of Chicago, regional director of railroads west of the Mississippi, reported today subscriptions of $29,016,000 from railroad men in his territory.

Latest reports indicate that the state of Washington has exceeded its quota. Seattle has 45,000 subscribers—more than twice the number in the second loan—and Tacoma reports 20,000 subscribers. Oregon Liberty loan campaigners now claim a new record on the ground that at the end of the second week every town and every county in the state had subscribed its quota.

Indications today were that Missouri had gone over the top and that 19 counties have been awarded the honor flag. In the entire St. Louis federal reserve district 374,000 subscribers, including 63,000 from St. Louis, have been reported.

The Dallas district announces the following record of states and their subscription percentage of quotas: Texas, 44; Oklahoma, 41; Louisiana, 48; Arizona, 70; New Mexico, 34.

By cities this record is: Dallas, 42; Fort Worth, 62; Waco, 46; San Antonio, 68; Houston, 52; Shreveport, 56; Galveston, 80; Austin, 37; Chandler, Tex., with 302 qualified voters, turned in 352 individual subscriptions. Arizona is expected to go over the top in a day or two.

Sunrise, Wyo., with a population of 672, has sold bonds to 367 persons, doubling its quota and placing a bond in every home.

THOMAS ADMITS HIS VIEWS NOT APPROVED BY SOCIAL TRADITIONS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Chicago, April 22.—Professor W. I. Thomas, recently dismissed from the University of Chicago after being arrested at a hotel where he had registered with Mrs. R. M. Granger, wife of an army officer now serving in France, issued a statement made public today in which he gave his version of the affair.

Professor Thomas said that Mrs. Granger had literary ambitions and that she came to Chicago in the search of a girl friend who she declared "had a remarkable history." She was to have met the professor with the girl to discuss the case at the time of their arrest but she had been unable to find the girl and had come alone, he said. The statement adds:

"I am therefore not guilty of the charge as it is understood but I am guilty of the whole general charge in the sense that I hold views and am capable of practices not approved by our social traditions."

The professor and Mrs. Granger were acquitted of a charge of disorderly conduct in the municipal court last week.

CHAMBERLAIN BILL HAS OPPOSITION OF PRESIDENT WILSON

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, April 22.—President Wilson came out today in opposition to the Chamberlain bill which would try violations of the sedition laws by court martial and in a letter to Senator Overman of North Carolina declared his belief that the measure is unconstitutional.

If enacted, the President declared the bill would place the United States on a level with its enemies. The measure, he said, is opposed to the spirit and purpose of the espionage law.

Enactment of the Chamberlain bill has been urged before the senate military committee as necessary to stamp out German propaganda. Vigorous opposition to its passage has been developed and Senator Borah has sought support of senate leaders in his effort to defeat it. The bill has not had the support of the department of justice and Charles Warren, assistant attorney general resigned last week after, it was said, his advocacy of the measure failed to receive the support of the attorney general.

Previously Reported Missing, Now Reported Killed—Major Raynal Cawthorne Bolling.

The list carries the first official information that Colonel R. C. Bolling had been killed. In a previous list he was reported as missing in action. Although subsequently Assistant Secretary of State Phillips, his brother-in-law, was informed in a dispatch from the American embassy at Paris that his body had been found with a bullet wound through the heart. The list gave him the rank of major, but he had been promoted to colonel.

WILL SHIP GRAIN TO THE BELGIANS

Washington, April 22.—Food shipments to the civilian populations pending for ten days to move three of the allied countries will be supplied by the receipt of grain from the Belgians, who are declared to be in desperate straits.

A part of the wheat will go to the populations in the German occupied territory of northern France. The decision to concentrate on the shipment of this grain was followed by the receipt of urgent cablegrams from the Belgian relief commission's representative in Brussels. One of the cables said:

"Provided all shipments now en route arrive and proposing an equal distribution between all parts of the country, Belgium and northern France will be without bread from exotic grains for twenty days."

British Officers Recover Body of Baron Richthofen, Noted German Aviator Killed Back of Their Lines and He Will Be Buried Today With Military Honors Near Spot Where He Crashed, With Impressive Ceremony—Field Marshal Haig is Strengthening and Improving British Defensive—Huns Bringing Up Heaviest Guns to Somme Battlefield, Where Amiens is Their Objective

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, April 22.—The British advanced their lines slightly last night in local operations on both of the principal battle fronts, the war office announces.

Gains were made near Villers-Bretonneux and Albert, on the Somme front and Robecq at the top of the Flanders salient.

A strong local attack by the Germans on the front north of Albert was repulsed after the enemy had captured one of the British advanced posts.

The statement follows:

"Early in the night a strong attack accompanied by heavy shelling was made by the enemy against our positions in the neighborhood of Mesnil, north of Albert. After sharp fighting in the course of which the enemy succeeded in capturing one of our advanced posts the attack was repulsed."

"We improved our positions during the night in the Villers-Bretonneux, Albert and Robecq sectors."

"A number of successful raids were carried out by us at different points south and north of Lens, resulting in the capture of prisoners and machine guns."

"There has been considerable artillery activity on both sides on different sectors of the British front."

"The enemy's shelling has been directed chiefly against our positions astride the Somme and Ancre rivers in the Lens sector in the neighborhood of Festubert and in the Nieppe forest."

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
With the British Army in France, April 22.—Taking advantage of the moonlight, the Germans at 10 o'clock last night made a strong but unsuccessful attack against the British positions north of Aveluy wood, on the front above Albert. Heavy fighting continued until 4 o'clock this morning.

The Germans appear to have taken one British outpost and to have lost others elsewhere in the woods. The assault was preceded by a heavy bombardment and the gun fire on both sides kept up most of the night.

There was heavy artillery throughout Sunday east of Arras and on both sides of the Scarpe. The bombardment at Villers-Bretonneux and the surrounding territory also was continued. The British improved their lines somewhat in the neighborhood of Villers-Bretonneux.

Baron Richthofen, the famous German aviator was shot down and killed last night back of the British lines along the Somme front. Details of the death of the aviator are lacking but as showing the temper of British officers it may be said the ing in an air battle with a worthy opponent rather than by being shot down by anti-aircraft guns.

The German "flying circus" leader will be buried with military honors today near the spot where he crashed and an impressive ceremony (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1.)

CHAIRMAN OF WAR COMMITTEE WILL PUSH STAMP SALE

Columbus, April 22.—Ashland county, the first in Ohio to exceed its 1918 quota of War Savings and Thrift stamps, has started to raise a second allotment of $485,620. The total amount sold thus far reaches $487,196 which is $1,576 in excess of the treasury department allotment to this county for the entire year.

T. W. Miller, Ashland county chairman, has advised the Ohio War Savings committee that his organization will continue intensively the sale of stamps throughout the year.

COUNTRY DISTRICTS DOING BETTER THAN CITIES OVER STATE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Cleveland, April 22.—Cleveland's subscriptions exceeded half the city's quota of $55,000,000 at the close of business Saturday night, the committee announced today, the total reaching $28,167,750.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Cleveland, April 22.—Although the fourth federal reserve district leads the country in honor flags, with 592 communities, it begins the third week of the Liberty Loan campaign with $10,937,350 less than half of its $300,000,000 quota subscribed. Of the $139,012,650 total for the district at the last official announcement Cleveland's official subscriptions amount to nearly $27,000,000. Sixty-five thousand people in Toledo have subscribed $14,049,000 fifty per cent more than its quota. According to D. C. Willis, chairman of the district board, the towns and country districts are doing better comparatively than cities.

Van Wert county closes its campaign today. Last official reports indicated total subscriptions of over $600,000 with every community over the top. The quota for the county is $421,000. Put-in-Bay township has nearly tripled its quota.

Hudson ended its week's drive Saturday night. With a quota of $40,000, subscriptions totaled $82,000. Thirty-four thousand dollars were raised at a mass meeting and two overflow meetings in Madison yesterday exceeding its $31,000 quota by $6,000. Galton and Fostoria report having passed their goals.

About $400,000 of Portage county's allotment of $518,000 has been subscribed and latest advices from Erie county are that only about half its share has been obtained.

COMMISSION TO CONSIDER PROPOSED MATCH TODAY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
St. Paul, April 22.—The proposed boxing contest between Champion Jess Willard and Fred Fulton, which may be held here on July 4, will be considered late today by the Minnesota boxing commission.

BELIEVE EVERY TOWNSHIP WILL EXCEED QUOTA

Because Newark and Licking county have won their honor flags does not mean that the workers of the various teams are going to quit taking subscriptions for Liberty loans. In fact, it means anything but that for the workers are still just as busy as ever selling bonds. The campaign now being conducted is one to see just how far the city and county will go to push the county's contribution to go over its quota. It is a drive now the nation's cause as far above its proportion as is possible.

Between now and the closing date for the government's close of the third Liberty loan, May 4, the workers will continue to increase the amount of bond sales by large amounts. Chairman E. C. Wright of the war committee of Licking county has expressed his satisfaction at the showing that has been made in the county and is certain that the total subscription will be greatly increased before the closing date.

Reports continue to come in from the township committees and by tonight or tomorrow morning it is expected that all reports on the four days' drive will have been received at the war committee's headquarters at the chamber of commerce. From these reports it is certain that without exception the townships of Licking county will each of them be entitled to an honor flag. These honor pennants are being sent out from the committee's headquarters and there is one for each township as soon as their returns show that they are entitled to it. Only four townships at present have not reported their required quota. The reports from these four townships are only partial ones and Chairman W. C. Metz of the county liberty loan committee gives assurance that when the final reports are all in every township will have gone over its mark.

BRITISH MAKE GAINS

AMERICAN GUNNERS BRING DOWN GERMAN AIRPLANES.

(Associated Press Telegram) With the American Army in France, Sunday, April 21—Two low flying German airplanes were brought down Saturday by American machine gunners during the German attack in and about Seicheprey northwest of Toul. The machine gunners who bagged the Germans had been ordered to retire but they remained in their position and fought effectively against the enemy aviators.

During the engagement the Germans concentrated their artillery fire on the American telephone and telegraph wires which were cut many times. Couriers were forced to pass through two or three barbed wire entanglements in order to maintain communication. In the meantime the men of the signal corps many of them smoking cigarettes in the face of a heavy bombardment restored the wires almost as fast as the enemy shells disrupted them. Ambulance men ventured into No Man's Land during the thick of the fight and did heroic work in gathering up wounded. One German who had offered to surrender, attempted to explode a bomb on the ground as three Americans approached him. Another soldier, however, discovered the trick and hurled a hand grenade at the German. One of the German's legs was blown off and he died later, a prisoner of the men he attempted to blow up.

A village near the front lines which the correspondent visited today tells a mute tale of Saturday's fighting. There are huge shell holes in the streets and parts of the church and other buildings have been blown up.

The enemy fire became so hot here that Salvation Army girls, who had been serving coffee and doughnuts to the Americans were forced to leave. The girls protested saying they were not afraid of the Germans and wanted to stay in their dugout but officers did not wish to take the responsibility and as they left the girls were cheered by soldiers returning from the front lines.

HAIG WATCHING EVERY MOVE OF THE ENEMY.

(Compiled from A. P. Dispatches.)

While awaiting the next German blow, now momentarily expected, Field Marshal Haig is taking advantage of the comparative lull to strengthen his lines in various spots. Both north and south of the Somme and on the Lys battle front the British defensive positions were improved in local operations last night. Similarly, the Germans made an attempt to push forward their lines in the Mesnil region, north of Albert, in which sector they apparently are preparing for some more important movement. The British offered a sharp defense however, and foiled the enemy effort.

Heavy artillery fire is in progress on so many parts of the front that little indication is afforded by this as to the point selected by the Germans for their renewed thrust. Naturally they may be expected to make further efforts to extricate themselves from the pocket into which they have forced themselves along the Lys, southwest of Ypres. Thus, last night, the enemy was reported shelling the British positions in Nieuport wood, whence lies the route to Hazebrouk, the railway center from which it is well-nigh vital for the British to hold him.

There has been no new development in the region north of Ypres.

TAKES LOWER RANK TO GET IN FIGHT

Brig. Gen. Samuel L. Johnson.

One of the few recorded cases, in the present war at least, of an army officer accepting a lower rank that he might reach the fighting front sooner, is that of Brig. Gen. Samuel L. Johnson, commander of the Hawaii division of the national guard, who has accepted the rank of major in the national army in order to see service sooner in Europe.

where the Belgians stopped a turning movement last week, preventing the British from being flanked out of the Ypres positions. The nature of the opposing forces, however, make it seem probable that a repetition of the attempt is to be looked for.

The situation in the Somme region is being for the moment even more closely watched than that along the Franco-Belgian border to the north. Field Marshal Haig reports heavy shelling of the British lines on both sides of the Somme and the Ancre, and the correspondents are sending word of German preparations for a movement of some nature between Arras and Amiens, within which the region under bombardment is located.

The enemy is known to have brought up some of the heaviest guns to the Somme battle field, where Amiens is his objective, but the intense artillery is matching these and hampering the Germans severely in their preparations for attack. Last night the French repulsed a German raid along the Avre, in this region.

Having withstood a violent German infantry attack in force the American troops on the sector northwest of Toul have driven the enemy from the positions he gained Saturday and have restored the situation completely. The American main positions held out against the enemy but he occupied advanced elements from which he was ejected Sunday by the Americans in a counter attack. To the east the French lines also have been re-established.

Indications are that the Germans intended to make the attack the start of an effort to separate the American and French troops and, perhaps wipe out the American sector. General Pershing's men however, fought desperately and only retired from Seicheprey before overpowering numbers.

The enemy was not able to hold the village and soon evacuated it.

After the Americans had driven the Germans from the occupied advanced posts the enemy did not attack again and Sunday was comparatively quiet east of St. Mihiel. The German offensive which persisted throughout the day and into the night was preceded by most violent artillery fire but the Americans were undismayed and stuck to their guns. They were able to meet the enemy storming troops. Two German airplanes were brought down by American machine gunners.

Berlin, in its official statement, describes Saturday's action lengthily.

Admission is made that the fighting was severe and it is claimed that 183 Americans, including five officers and 25 machine guns were captured. Heavy losses, it is said, were inflicted by the Germans. That the effort failed of its purpose is indicated by the announcement that the attackers returned to their own positions under cover of night.

Berlin makes no mention of French troops having been engaged in this region.

On the Picardy and Flanders battle fields the Germans have not resumed their attacks and apparently are waiting for the high command to decide where to strike next while fresh troops and new supplies are being brought forward.

Meanwhile French reinforcements are pouring in behind the British lines. French troops are now with Field Marshal Haig's men on both the northern and southern legs of the salient south of Ypres. Near Robecq on the southern leg, the British have driven the Germans from some advanced posts. In this area, where strong German attacks were repulsed sanguinarily last week, the enemy artillery is most active. Artillery duels continue violent along most of the Picardy battle front where the Germans are using guns of the biggest calibers.

Today the German offensive begins its second month without having separated the British and French and with the British army still intact. Where the next blow will fall is uncertain but the allies are prepared to meet it as they have met the others. It is probable the Germans are not willing to end the Flanders attack without making another effort to drive in the northern leg and get behind Ypres. Enemy activity south of Arras also has been noticed.

EARTH SHOCKS WRECK TOWNS IN CALIFORNIA

(Continued from Page 1.) Three distinct shocks were felt at San Jacinto. The first threw to the ground a number of persons and horses. At the second shock all the buildings on the south side of the main street began to collapse and the third shook down those on the north side.

Electricity failed immediately and within ten minutes the breaking of the gas mains made it necessary to shut off the supply. The water mains were not much damaged.

One of the freaks of the earthquake was the sudden flow of wells. Many artesian wells, dry for years, showed a sudden free supply of water. This sudden increase of water manifested itself particularly in the San Jacinto river. Before the earthquake it was dry. Immediately after the tremor the river at a point below the town showed a flow of twelve inches in depth and forty feet in width.

The earthquake yesterday was almost a repetition of that of Christmas day, 1899 when the two towns suffered shocks of like severity.

Fear was expressed in Los Angeles that several large office buildings had been thrown out of plumb. A survey will have to be undertaken to learn the truth. The Washington building, a large business structure on Spring street, was perceptibly separated from the Currier building immediately adjoining.

Scores of plate glass windows were broken at San Bernardino and cracks developed in several brick walls. Concrete roads and highways leading from Perris to Hemet and to San Jacinto were upheaved heaved.

The earthquake was felt over a wide area in the west. Its most northern extremity apparently was Fresno, Calif. Tremors also were felt at Phoenix and Seligman, Ariz. and at Milford, Utah.

Two miners who were entombed by a landslide at Magnesite mine, southeast of San Jacinto, were reported rescued today.

In San Jacinto latest reports said 14 business establishments were leveled and 11 others so damaged that they will have to be torn down.

At Hemet reports said four stores were destroyed and 18 damaged.

RECORDED ON SEISMOGRAPH.

(Associated Press Telegram) Cleveland, April 22.—Yesterday's California earthquake was recorded on the seismograph at St. Ignace College here, Father Odenbach said today. The first preliminary wave was recorded at 5:44 p. m., the secondary wave at 5:47, the main wave at 5:49, receding then until the quake wave ended at 5:52 o'clock.

"RAMONA" HOME DESTROYED.

(Associated Press Telegram) San Jacinto, Cal., April 22.—"Ramona," idealistic Indian character of Helen Hunt Jackson, was recalled in the earthquake when the home of R. E. Stout fell in ruins. It was there that "Aunt Ri," one of the novel's characters lived, and it was there that much of the novel was written. Buried in the ruins is "Ramona's" chair.

SYMPATHETIC STRIKE.

(Associated Press Telegram) Waco, Tex., April 22.—Two thousand union men are idle here today according to estimates of union officials, as a result of the general strike called last night in sympathy with striking street car employees who have been out since March 9.

FRENCH REPULSE RAIDS.

(Associated Press Telegram) Paris, April 22.—German raids, east of the Avre river and near Rheims, were repulsed last night, the war office announces.

ALL SECRETS SAFE WITH HER

Little Danger That This Particular Young Lady Would Give Aid and Comfort to Enemy.

A few days ago, the high school boys out at Glenview were told to find out what had become of the historic frigate Constitution. There was a rumor that "Old Ironsides" had been junked in order to obtain the copper.

One of the boys tried the public library and every other source of probable information that he could think of, but without results. Then he thought himself of a desperate chance and called up the Dorothea armory. He got the secretary (a young woman) on the line.

"I am anxious to get some information about the ship Constitution—'Old Ironsides,' you know," he said. "It has been in the Boston navy yard for some time. Is it true that it has been destroyed?"

"Why, my dear sir," cried the secretary, with official indignation and in tones of one with whom military secrets were ever safe, "even if we had such information we would not be allowed to give it out!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

SUMMIT STATION.

These of our sick are improving. The President's proclamation, requesting all communities to observe April 26th as Liberty Day, will be observed at Summit Station. The meeting will be held in the Universalist church at 8 p. m. Friday evening. Speakers from Newark are expected. The meeting will be a free one, no help advertised.

The west precinct of Lima township citizens made a fine show of patriotism by going over the top in the Liberty Loan drive. The committee did its work well.

ORDER COAL NOW; YOU MAY NOT GET IT IF YOU DELAY

Consumers Can Help Prevent Shortage Next Winter by Buying Now, Says Fuel
Administrator.

GARFIELD SOUNDS WARNING.

Better Borrow Money Now to Buy
Than Do Without Later, He Says—If Your Storage Space Isn't Large Enough, Enlarge It.

By HARRY A. GARFIELD,
United States Fuel Administrator.
Every householder, every public utility and every industrial user of coal engaged in work essential to the prosecution of the war are earnestly advised and urged to place without delay their orders for coal to cover their needs for the 12 months beginning April 1.

During the past 12 months there has been suffering among consumers and a curtailment of essential production by industries through inability to obtain necessary fuel after the beginning of winter. A year ago consumers were led to believe that they might safely withhold their orders until later in the year. They labored under the impression that coal could be bought and secured as well at one time as another. They were told that there was plenty of coal for everybody and that there would be plenty of coal cars to move the coal in also.

This advice and its acceptance by consumers was one of the contributing causes to the coal shortage, with its consequent suffering among domestic consumers and lessening in production of commodities needed in our war activities.

The Fuel Administration was not then in existence and did not begin its work until August 23. It was then already too late to undo the harm which had been done. The Fuel Administration would be negligent of its duty to the public if it failed to call attention at this time to the unfortunate results of the mistaken course pursued by the public a year ago and to warn all consumers in the most emphatic manner possible that a repetition of those results can be avoided only by accepting and acting immediately upon the Fuel Administration's advice, here given:

Order Your Coal at Once.

Let every consumer of the classes mentioned ascertain his fuel requirements for the coming year. Do this at once. Order sufficient coal to meet those requirements. Place your orders at once. If domestic consumers have not sufficient storage space for the coal they will need they should enlarge their bins. If public utilities and industries engaged upon government work have not sufficient storage space they should at once provide it.

The production of coal in this country is fundamentally a transportation problem. There are enough coal cars and enough locomotives to transport the necessary quantity of coal, only if every car and every locomotive is used to its maximum capacity every day in the year. There are enough operatives in the mines to get the coal from the ground; if those operatives can work every day in the year and if the coal cars and locomotives are available every day.

The fuel problem is to get the coal from the first place of deposit to the final place of deposit with as little delay as possible and in as steady and continuous a stream as circumstances will permit. The railroads may be compared to a water pipe, which needs to run full all the time to carry the necessary amount of water to its destination. If that water is shut off for any appreciable time it means an ultimate shortage. The pipe can carry no more than its maximum capacity per day.

Borrow, if You Must.

Inconvenience of paying for coal in the spring or summer when it will not be needed until autumn or winter should not influence any consumer to delay placing his order and securing his supply. It is far wiser to borrow money in the spring to pay for one's coal than to wait until autumn or winter, when if the coal has not been mined and money cannot procure it.

The Fuel Administration, through the State Fuel Administrators and local committees, is prepared in every reasonable way to place the public utilities, essential industries, retail dealers and domestic consumers in placing their orders and in securing assurance of a sufficient supply of fuel. All these governmental agencies, however, are powerless if the consumers themselves fail to act. Again, therefore, the Fuel Administration urges every consumer to place his orders immediately. This should ordinarily be done through the medium of supply upon which the consumer has relied in the past. If this course is followed it may be hoped that the suffering and loss of the past winter will not be repeated. If it is not done consumers will have themselves to blame.

"Blessed are the peacemakers," says the Bible. But just at present they seem to be out of a job.

NEEDLESS DEATHS TAKE 400 BABIES

Columbus, April 22.—Figures on infant deaths in Ohio in January, presented by the state department of health today, were declared by the department to offer startling evidence of the need for a vigorous child hygiene campaign in the state.

Four hundred children under five years old died in the month of January from causes which are classed as largely preventable. Of these 400 deaths, 46 were due to whooping cough, 41 to diphtheria, 4 to measles, 18 to tuberculosis, 19 to syphilis and 272 to pneumonia.

Total deaths of children under 5 in the state in January were 1232. Under the plans for children's year, the average monthly baby death total must be kept down to 902. If the goal of the movement—the saving of 4510 lives—is to be achieved.

The children's year campaign opened April 6. Figures will be compiled from month to month by the state department of health to show what effect the movement is having on the high death rate indicated by the figures for January and other months before the work began.

RUTH MAC TAMMANY SUED FOR DIVORCE; MARRIAGE REVEALED

Ruth MacTammany, popular movie actress and former Cleveland soloist, was sued for divorce in common pleas court in Cleveland Thursday by Frederick E. Lane, automobile dealer, 3515 Euclid avenue. Lane did not know that his wife was in the movies until shown a picture of her by newspaper men after the suit was filed.

Prior to the filing of the action it had not been generally known that the actress was married. She never used her married name during her screen career and parted from her husband several years ago.

The petition charges wilful absence for more than three years. Lane said the marriage took place on September 18, 1912, and that they parted six months later.

Miss MacTammany was formerly with the Mutual Film company and at present is touring the state with her own film version of "Alma, Where Do You Live?"

She lived in Cleveland for several years and was soloist at the Euclid Avenue Baptist church. She was studying for grand opera in Italy when the war broke out and had many difficulties in getting back to this country. She now lives in Akron. She is 26 years old and her husband is 33.

Miss MacTammany recently appeared in Newark at the Auditorium with her picture, "Alma, Where Do You Live?" She played a three days engagement and at the request of Manager Geo. M. Fenberg remained over Sunday, singing patriotic songs and taking up collections for "Smile-age Books," the amount which she received enabling her to purchase 80 of the books which she turned over to Manager Fenberg and which he sent to the Licking county soldier boys in camp.

ACTIVITIES OF COUNTY AGENT

Thinking it might be of interest to some of the readers of this paper to know what has been done for the farmers by me in regard to securing seed corn I will summarize the most important things. One or more meetings in 21 of the 28 townships have been held at which the seed corn situation was thoroughly discussed. Over 200 composite samples have been tested. The government testing station located at Mr. Weiant's green house under my direction has ear tested samples from enough corn to plant 2500 acres and many hundred more will be tested. The planting and reporting of the tests keeps a man at the station and the secretary at the office very busy. Between 15 and 20 lots of old corn was tested and buyers for same were sent from this office. Many inquiries for corn were directed to local dealers. A car lot from Maskington county was in large part sold from this office. At present there are signed orders on hand for about 1000 bushels of the state corn and more orders are arriving daily through the mail, by telephone and by personal calls.

Saturday April 13, there were 178 callers in the farm bureau office and 317 during the whole week.

Orders for corn have been received from Knox, Fairfield, Perry, Muskingum and Coshocton counties and the time for planting grows nearer we expect to deliver the goods. As the more inquiries come for corn that will grow. It is my opinion that the first of May will find many farmers still without good seed corn.

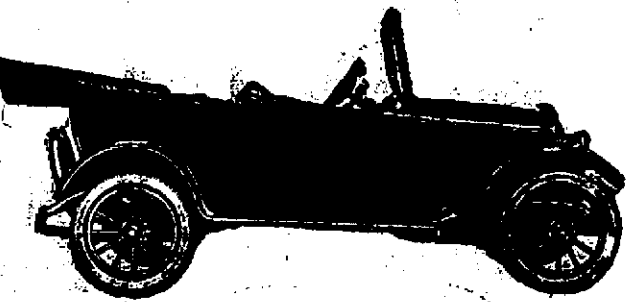

I want to thank the farmers, the press and the public for the interest and assistance given me and by my co-workers in this great work.

L. L. Mowls,
County Agricultural Agent.

Your Finger Prints.

A good many people can change and disguise their handwriting so that no one could possibly recognize it. But there is one autograph that none of us can change—namely, that made by the prints of the fingers. Every member of the human race has certain delicate markings on his fingers by which his identity can always be established. These marks never change. The lines are the same at seventy as at babyhood, only grow larger as we grow older. The highly intelligent person has more of detail in his finger marks than one of less mental power. Women have finer markings on their finger tips than men, and those of negroes are coarser than those of whites.

Any maker may claim for his product all the qualities there are. That is his privilege. He may even think his claims are justified.

You read the advertisements, so you know that makers, as a rule, are not over modest in that regard.

If you believe them all, they all make super-cars.

In your experience, that theory doesn't hold.

Maxwell is different.

We never claim anything we cannot prove.

As a matter of fact we never have claimed anything for this Maxwell that has not already been proved in public test and under official observation.

Maxwell claims are not therefore claims in the ordinary sense—they are statements of fact—proven facts.

They are, in every case, matters of official record attested under oath.

For example: The famous 22,000-mile Non-Stop run was made with the Maxwell every minute under observation of the A. A. A. officials.

That still remains a world's record—the world's record of reliability.

That particular test proved about all that anyone could ask or desire of a motor car.

Among other things it still stands the world's long distance speed record.

Just consider—44 days and nights without a stop, at an average speed of 25 miles per hour!

And that, not by a $2,000 car, but by a stock model Maxwell listing at $825.

You will recall perhaps that a famous high powered, high priced six in a trans-continental trip made 28 miles average over a period of five days and eleven hours.

Now compare those two feats—one of less than six days, the other of 44 days. You know automobiles—which was the greater test?

Is there any comparison on grounds either of speed or endurance?

Proves you don't need to pay more than $825 to obtain all the qualities you can desire in a motor car—if you select a Maxwell.

For that Maxwell Non-Stop run was made, not on a track but over rough country roads and through city traffic—average of all kinds of going.

And—listen to this.

So certain were we of the condition of the Maxwell at the end of that great feat, we announced that at the stroke of eleven on a certain morning, the car would stop in front of the City Hall, Los Angeles, for the Mayor to break the seal.

Five seconds after he had pulled the switch plug and stopped the motor after the 44 days and nights continuous running, she was started again and off on a thousand mile jaunt to visit various Maxwell dealers.

How is that for precision—certainty of action? That incident brought a storm of applause from the assembled thousands.

Hill climbing?—this Maxwell holds practically every record worth mentioning—especially in the West where the real hills are.

The Mount Wilson record—nine and one-half miles, 6,000 feet elevation!—was taken by a stock Maxwell.

Two months ago a 12-cylinder car beat that record by two minutes.

Then—three days later—a stock Maxwell went out and beat that 12-cylinder record by thirty seconds! Pretty close going for such a distance and such a climb—wasn't it?

So Maxwell still holds the Mount Wilson honors.

Ready to defend it against all comers too, at any time—a stock Maxwell against any stock or special chassis.

Economy—also a matter of official record.

Others may claim—Maxwell proves.

Thousands of Maxwell owners throughout the United States on the same day averaged 29.4 miles per gallon of gasoline.

Not dealers or factory experts, mind you, but owners—thousands of them—driving their own Maxwells.

Nor were they new Maxwells—the contest was made by 1915, 16, and 17 models; many of which had seen tens of thousands miles of service—three years' use.

Nor could they choose their own road or weather conditions—all kinds were encountered in the various sections of the country.

Good roads and bad—level country and mountainous regions—heat and cold—sunshine and rain—aspalt and mud.

And the average was 29.4 miles per gallon!

There's economy for you. And under actual average driving conditions—not laboratory test.

But that isn't all.

The greatest achievement of this Maxwell was in its showing of speed and reliability and economy all in the same run.

In that 44 days-and-nights Non-Stop run, though no thought was given to either speed or economy, it still remains a fact of official record that the Maxwell averaged 22 miles per gallon and 25 miles per hour.

Now you know that speed costs—and that economy tests are usually made at slow-speed—closed-throttle, thin-mixture conditions.

You know too that you can obtain economy of fuel by building and adjusting for that one condition.

Speed you can get by building for speed. Any engineer can do that.

But to obtain that combination of speed and economy with the wonderful reliability shown in that 44-days Non-Stop run—that car must be a Maxwell.

"OVER THE TOP."

Licking county's splendid record in the third Liberty loan campaign is an achievement to which the new war-work committee and the chairman of the Liberty loan committee, W. C. Metz, may point with pride. County Chairman E. C. Wright and his thorough organization extending into every precinct of the city and county went into the work with intelligence and vigor, putting old Licking "over the top" in a short, snappy campaign.

Within the past year the people of Licking county have invested more than three million dollars in government securities—$475,000 in the first Liberty loan, $1,077,000 in the second Liberty loan, more than $1,000,000 in the third Liberty loan, and about $400,000 thus far in the War Savings stamps. They have given to the Y. M. C. A., the K. of C., the Red Cross, and to other activities incident to the war and within a month they will respond to the call for the Licking county war chest. The people will continue to buy War Savings stamps throughout the year and in the fall will be asked to subscribe to the fourth Liberty loan.

Licking county has come forward promptly at every call and she will respond to every demand that is made as long as the war lasts. The people are willing to save and sacrifice for Uncle Sam, fully realizing that what sacrifice they are called upon to make is small, indeed, when compared with the real sacrifice that our soldiers and sailors are making. They are backing up those who go to the front and the people of this community may be depended upon to continue to do so until Prussianism is crumbled.

CAREERS FOR GIRLS.

A plan to provide parents with information and advice on the various professions and occupations which are now open to girls who have a secondary school education was the subject of a conference recently held in Bradford, England.

Mrs. H. A. L. Fisher, wife of the minister of education, spoke of the fresh possibilities that every day are opening for women, and advised girls not to look upon their professions as the filling of an interval between school and marriage, but as part of their contribution to the world and to citizenship. In regard to dentistry it was said that the probable extension of the medical examination and treatment of school children and the introduction of dental benefit under the national insurance act would offer great openings for women dentists in addition to general private practice.

The director of the London Central Bureau for the Employment of Women stated that the number of women clerks in England had risen from 52,000 in 1901 to 894,000 in 1917. Industrial chemistry and dispensing, agriculture, food conservation, domestic economy work in canteens, hospitals, national kitchens, and hotels, and the practice of medicine as careers were also discussed.

Somebody has invented a good slogan out of the letters "I. W. W." It is: "I won't waste." That's worth remembering.

WHEN WAR ENDS.

(By Rev. B. M. O'Boylan.)

When the war is over our nation will have the greatest merchant marine in the world; the greatest army in the world, and the best soldiers. Out of this strife will come a new order of men and things the like of which was never dreamt of. Quickened and purified by hardships and endurance under refining discipline, both of mind and body, the manhood of the country will rise to the supreme pedestal of humanity from which they will be able to survey the work they have before them, and, guided by the spirit of God, they can fulfill the destiny of this great republic by making it the solid ground of rational and universal liberty whereon to enlarge and perfect in all its ramifications the structure of sound democracy.

Branded by contact with the men of every race and creed with whom they are united in arms they shall break through the shackles of prejudice and conventional habits of thought, and learn to look upon all mankind through the eyes of the Redeemer of the human race, who died for all. Christian charity will be restored to its rightful sphere in the hearts of the people by the example of the heroes who offered their lives for the preservation and freedom; for "greater love than this no man hath than to lay down his life for his brethren." Education will be readjusted so as to meet the demands of the new conditions and every branch of human industry and knowledge will be extended and developed by the energies brought into action through the forces of this world-conflict. The theory of evolution which had been sinking more and more into the slough of atheistic determinism will be purified of its dross, and true science will be reinstated in the halls of our colleges and universities where one of our writers discovered the rock of truth was being gradually blasted.

Friendship, hospitality, kindness, and all the social virtues will be cultivated in such a way as to make of this Union of mighty states a nation to be the beacon light for the rest of the world to look to for inspiration and encouragement, and the reign of the Prince of Peace will then be inaugurated to last till time shall be no more. This is no prophetic utterance. It only expresses my hopes and longings and the prayers of my heart.

DOG LICENSES.

The new law requiring that all dogs be licensed and wear a tag has been in operation since December and is proving a great revenue-producer. Reports to Auditor of State Donahay from the 88 county auditors covering the period from December to March 15, 1918, show receipts from licenses amounting in the state to $344,175.90. The total collection of dog tax in 1917 under the old law was $234,338.86.

There are still many thousands of dogs throughout Ohio that have not been registered. Of these, more than 25,000 are in three counties—Cuyahoga, Franklin and Summit. The receipts for license tags in Hamilton, Lucas and Montgomery are $38,857, while Cuyahoga, Franklin and Summit, with more people and more dogs, show receipts of but $18,070. If some of our counties would stop "howling" for more taxes and collect the taxes and fees due and unpaid there would not be so many schools prematurely closed and the Smith 1 per cent tax law might be permitted to live a long and useful life. The number of unlicensed dogs in Ohio on March 15 unquestionably exceed 100,000. Think of what this loss of possible $150,000 of revenue means. It would have given two extra months to 1500 schools in Ohio that were compelled to close at the end of six months of school for 50,000 children were lost by a lack of law enforcement.

The law provides that all dogs must be licensed when they become three months old so that license fees will be paid every month of the year. In addition, many counties will enforce the law against those owners who have failed to pay the license—all should be compelled to pay—and the total receipts for the year will probably reach $400,000 in the state. This is no insignificant sum. It is more than the total collection of taxes for all purposes in any one of the following counties: Harrison, Noble, Holmes, Morrow, Morgan, Carroll, Pike, Geauga and Union.

To insure that all dogs are licensed, a law should be enacted requiring that affidavits by private citizens, furnishing information as to the location of unlicensed dogs, shall not be made public. Some allowance of funds should be made to dog-catchers where needed, but officials should not be permitted to squander the receipts. There is considerable leisure time in most sheriff's offices at certain seasons. If a sheriff's employee refuse to act as dog-catchers when not needed for other work, the sheriff ought to make a change in employees. The foolish idea that any necessary labor can be "undignified" should not be tolerated by an official.

The total collection of dog tax last year under the old law was $234,338.86, and $44,199.50 of dog tax listed remained unpaid. This year, under the new law, the payments on March 15 already exceeded the total collections in 1917 by $109,837.04 and was $6,637.50 in excess of the collections and the uncollected taxes of last year combined. Already over 50,000 dogs have been registered this year that were not even listed for taxation last year. This shows strikingly how incomplete was the listing of dogs for taxation by the assessors under the old law.

In Licking county the receipts to March 15, under the new dog license law, was $5983, the collections under the old dog tax law for 1917 having been $3990. The unpaid dog tax last year was $744; number of sheep killed or injured in 1917, 363; total payments for damages by dogs, $2,829.95.

A DUSTY SUMMER.

Complaints are coming from widespread sources that road-oil will be very difficult to get this year. The leading oils used for this purpose are needed in the munition works and for fuel. A great many roads that have been oiled regularly will be very dusty this year.

Motorists who travel roads that have been oiled regularly will be unhappy about the dust clouds they stir up. However, they can reflect that the great bulk of the country people still live on roads without any bituminous surface and manage to subsist. It will be poor policy to save our oils to fit up the roads for pleasure-driving, when those oils are so badly needed in the work of equipping our soldier boys. But the question of injury that may be done to heavily-traveled roads not protected by oil surfaces is a question requiring some thought. There ought to be enough bituminous substances to protect the more important roads, and it will be a serious loss if these are allowed to go to pieces.

An oiled surface is a wonderful preservative of roads, and is now the means of protecting hundreds of thousands of miles of highway.

State, county and local highway authorities should use what road-oil they have on hand very economically, for it will be very badly needed. Substitutes will, of course, be used. Tar can be obtained to a limited extent, and will do fairly well.

If the automobile-owners would but be content with moderate rates of speed, the wear on a dusty and poorly-bound road would not be nearly as severe. The car that runs at 30 miles an hour must tear out three times as much surfacing as one running at 15. The motorist who "takes no man's dust" is the one that wears out the highway. The rest of the automobile crowd are in for a dusty summer, and they would better get out their linen coats before spoiling their good clothes.

ALLIES' BALANCE IN MILES.

(Pittsburg Gazette-Times.)
The rather spectacular gains by the German armies have added a considerable area to the 7,500 square miles of French terrain held at the opening of the spring campaign, but it is worth while to keep in mind that the balance in occupied enemy land is still in favor of the allies. Exclusive of the portions of the Turkish empire conquered by Great Britain—Mesopotamia and Palestine—the score is very much against Germany, a total of 1,180,000 square miles of her foreign colonies being securely in the hands of her enemies. Leaving out of consideration the Russian area, the ultimate fate of which is uncertain—upward of 300,000 square miles—the allied possessions held by the Central Powers just before the offensive began were about 30,000 square miles of the Balkans, 11,520 of Belgium, 7,600 of France, 8,000 of Albania, 5,000 of Italy. Precious as all these would be to Germany and Austria if they could be organized as part of the empire, they could not compensate for the loss of the African and other foreign colonies and for the closed door to the East, represented by the British military achievements there and the absolute control of the Mediterranean and its eastern gateway by the Allied fleet. The collapse of Russia, tragedy as it may have been to humanity by prolonging the war, does not alter the case. The German game is blocked. To win it she must gain actual military ascendancy over her enemies. Conquests of smaller and weaker nations may impress the home populace for the moment, but that is all. No one realizes this better than the German imperialists. That is why they are making their supreme effort to smash the Allied armies.

The Vladivostok Landing.
For the maintenance of order at Vladivostok the allies have certain justification which does not extend to military operations in Siberia. While perhaps too much has been said of the military stores there, giving an exaggerated notion of their importance, the allies may fairly claim the right to protect and to carry away this property, in view of the refusal of the Lenin government to recognize Russia's debts.—Springfield Republican.

THE ANSWER.

(Independent and Harper's Weekly.)
With clear vision and splendid vigor the President has given America's answer to the great German offensive in the West and the devilish machinations of German conquest in the East. He makes the distinction vivid between "the ideals of justice and humanity and liberty, the principle of the free self-determination of nations, upon which all the modern world insists," and the German "ideals of power," and the principle that the strong must rule the weak, that trade must follow the flag, whether those to whom it is taken welcome it or not, that the peoples of the world are to be made subject to the patronage and overlordship of those who have the power to enforce it."

This is the conflict in which the world is now unmistakably engaged. In such a conflict there is but one choice that we the free people of the United States can make. The choice shall be made plain in "the utter sacrifice and self-forgetfulness with which we shall give all that we love and all that we have to redeem the world and make it fit for free men like ourselves to live in."

It has taken a long time for the American people to be convinced beyond the peradventure of a doubt that "the issues that hang upon the outcome" of the stupendous struggle go so deep as this. We have been slow indeed to admit, to ourselves and to the world, that the contest is between justice and dominion. We have been reluctant to believe that the German leaders were seeking "the execution of their own will upon the other nations of the world." But we can no longer blind ourselves to the truth. The world must be free or it must be German. There is no middle ground.

"Germany," says the President with perfect accuracy, "has once more said that force, and force alone shall decide whether justice and peace shall reign in the affairs of men, whether right as America conceives it or dominion as she conceives it shall determine the destinies of mankind."

America accepts the challenge. The American people will oppose to the diabolical force that the masters of Germany have proclaimed as the final arbiter of the destinies of the world the righteous force which is the champion of justice, of right and of humanity. "The majesty and might of our concerted power shall fill the thought and utterly defeat the force of those who flout and misprize what we honor and hold dear."

The President of the United States speaks the inmost heart of the American people when he voices the one response it is possible for them to make: "Force, force to the utmost, force without stint or limit, the righteous and triumphant force which shall make right the law of the world and cast every selfish dominion in the dust."

"Our utmost sacrifice, the lives of our fittest men, and, if need be, all that we possess," shall be thrown into the scales against the German pretensions to the mastery of the world.

GOOD LUCK, CHARLIE!

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)
May one suggest, without being accused of giving valuable information to the enemy, that the Huns are likely soon to be forced to endure a new kind of bombardment? For Charlie Chaplin has been called to military service and expects to go for training in June.

German gas. But Chaplin invented the mustard pie. It remains to be demonstrated, of course, just how devastating a long-range bombardment with mustard pies may be, but no one who has seen the prince of humorists on the screens manipulate his famous weapon will doubt its efficacy in Flanders.

Charlie ought to make a great soldier. Yet one doubts whether he can ever wear the country's uniform with quite the same effect as he wears the familiar derby and the trousers and the coat that make up his civilian wardrobe. Will he be permitted to carry the cane? Certainly, Chaplin without his cane would not be Chaplin at all.

Let Charlie promenade in no man's land in broad daylight, in full sight of the enemy's trenches—derby, coat, pants and cane—and the war in that sector will be over at once. That slouch would capture the opposing dug-outs without even bloodshed.

Of course, we'll miss Charlie, but we demand his sacrifices. We gladly let him go, knowing what a contribution he made toward victory. Only we'll miss him. We'll miss Fritz gets the first mustard pie squarely in the face.

GOVERNMENT EXTRAVAGANCE.

(Ohio State Journal.)
There is no doubt of extravagance in the government. There are plenty of men in the country mean enough to cheat it, and they will take advantage of any trouble the nation is in to do their dirty work. A man who makes a great sum of money off of the government these days is worse than a pro-German. But because of this extortion, no one has a right to bother or distress the government by standing around a growing about it. The work in hand is to whip the Hun and whether there is extravagance or not, that work must be attended to. Extravagance is the enemy of humanity and mankind and we wish it could be driven to hades, but in the meantime, it must not be allowed to detract from our efforts to save civilization. We cannot afford to stop and quarrel every time we climb a fence, but must hike right ahead and let go our disquisitions until we get there. We cannot spend ten billion a year without some help getting more than his share. No amount of extravagance should stop the fight.

With One Hand.
We might be able to whip the Kaiser with one hand, but that is a very foolish way of getting about such a task. It is not safe to try it. It is about time that we went into the war with both hands, both feet, all our teeth, our whole head, our whole heart, everything that we have. That is the only way to make sure of winning. We are only half-heartedly in the war so far. We are fighting with one hand. It is time that we were doing our very best. We must do that if we would make sure of victory.—Anaconda Standard.

Two Big Liars.
Who is the bigger liar, Emperor Charles, who wrote that he recognized French claims to Alsace-Lorraine and then sent a telegram to Emperor William that he never said such a thing, or Kaiser Bill, who sent back word to the Austrian monarch that he did not need to tell him the letter was a forgery? We are inclined to believe the palm should go to the Hohenzollern, for to make such an avowal when his heart was burning with wrath against his royal cousin must have called for exceptional qualities of deception.—Buffalo Commercial.

In a Bad Predicament.
The haste Emperor Charles shows in assuring the Kaiser that he is still a faithful ally, and the brazen repudiation of sentiments his own letter proves he entertained, show that he feels his position to be dangerous. The disclosures will make Germany gravely distrustful of Austria from this time forth, and in the past there has been no little evidence of distrust. Charles was weary of the great war a year ago, in view of the disappointing results of peace with Russia, he may soon be at the point of exhaustion.—New York Times.

So long as he neither by speech nor act attempts to injure this country or aid the country of which he is subject, he continues to be only an enemy alien, but if he engages or attempts to engage in any overt acts against this country his status changes to that of alien enemy. All subjects of Germany and Austria living in the United States today are enemy aliens, but, fortunately, only a small proportion of them are such as may properly be regarded as alien enemies.—Springfield Union.

St. Paul, Minn., April 22.—The prize package patriot has been discovered here. Sergeant Carl Hauge of the local United States marine recruiting force encountered him. The sergeant was carried back to the recruiting station in a coma. He will recover.

STRONG HAND OF GOVERNMENT MAY SETTLE TROUBLE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Washington, April 22.—A movement by Seattle, Wash., labor leaders to call a general strike May 1, as a protest against alleged persecution of Thomas Mooney, and others, convicted of the bomb conspiracy at San Francisco, was reported to the senate today by Senator Poindexter of Washington, who denounced it in vehement terms as "blackmail" upon the government, sedition and treason.

Senator Poindexter submitted a letter from Secretary James A. Dunagan, of the Seattle central labor union saying a referendum on the strike was being circulated. He also presented a resolution of Seattle trades unions declaring a "wide-spread suspicion" exists among will be the great test of a life and death struggle on the Western front. In the everyday walks of life, it is the spring time that brings ill health. One of the chief reasons why the run-down man finds himself in a state of health in March or April is because he has spent nearly all his hours for the past four or five months panned up within the walls of house, factory or office. It is the reason for our diminished resistance—that is, lack of out-door life, coupled with perhaps over-eating, lack of good exercise, insufficient sleep, and constipation. In other words, we keep feeding the furnace with food but do not take out the "clinker" and our fire does not burn brightly. Always keep the liver active.

There is nothing better for health than taking an occasional mild laxative, perhaps once a week, such as one as you can get at any drug store, made up of May-apple, jalap, aloes, (sugar-coated), tiny, easily taken, which has stood the test of fifty years of anatomical fame. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. But for the "Spring Fever," the general run-down condition, the lack of ambition, the "blues," one should take a course of treatment every spring, such a standard tonic as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, now to be had in tablet form in sixty-cent vials. Watch the people go plodding along the street. There's no spring vitality. A vitalizing tonic such as this vegetable extract of Dr. Pierce's gives you the power to force yourself into action. The brain responds to the new blood in circulation, and thus you're ready to make a fight against stagnation which holds you in bondage. Try it now! Don't wait! To-day is the day to begin. Get a little "Spring" and laugh and live. Vigor and vitality are the natural out-pouring of a healthy body. It does not spring up in a night. Try this spring tonic, and you gain the courage that comes with good health.

workmen the bomb plot convictions were an attempt to discredit organized labor.

The movement, Senator Poindexter declared, is in harmony with the industrial workers of the World, Bolsheviks and others of international unrest.

Senator Poindexter also referred to the government commission headed by Secretary Wilson, of the department of labor, which recently investigated labor unrest on the Pacific coast and referred to the Mooney case as one of the causes. The Washington senator declared the movement he referred to was originated by the Bolsheviks and anarchists. The labor commission, he said, had not attempted to pass on Mooney's guilt, but had, however, suggested that the president use his "enormous power" to interfere with California's judicial processes.

Referring to the letter and resolutions of the senate labor leaders, Senator Poindexter continued: "If recourse is to be had to such blackmail or to terrorism, sabotage, dynamite and murder, to the doctrines of direct action of the Bolsheviks and I. W. W., the weak are the ones who will suffer."

"The threat contained in these letters to gratify defiance of the law at the expense of our youth who are fighting for the liberty these men enjoy, needs to be put down by the strong hand of the government. Those who are putting forth this effort are cowards. They attempt to gain their purpose of blackmail and stealthy attacks. These men do not represent labor. There is a vicious element in their ranks (labor) largely composed of aliens who are not only disloyal and seditious but enemies of the country and enemies of mankind."

"The Bolsheviks of Russia, the I. W. W. or direct action socialists of the United States are brothers of militarism of Prussia. The I. W. W. and the principal conspirators among the small percentage of so-called labor leaders who misrepresent labor, advocate such murders as that of which Mooney was convicted. There can be no greater sacrifice than for red-handed criminals to be fattening on the fruits of honest labor and carrying on their propaganda in its name."

"The strike propaganda," Senator Poindexter said, "is an insolent thrust to tie up the war industries of the United States."

The propaganda of lawlessness he said, has spread from Russia to this country and includes "a large quantity of copies of a pacifist speech delivered in the United States senate."

Former German Ambassador Bernstorff was denounced by Senator Poindexter for having instigated labor unrest and violence. The former German envoy, the Washington senator declared, should have been arrested here and tried "as a common criminal or enemy spy."

SURVIVOR OF THE SULTANA DISASTER

Albert Norris, 74, of Granville, a civil war veteran, is probably the last survivor of the Sultana disaster, when that steamer was destroyed by an explosion 52 years ago.

Mr. Norris was a member of Company A of the 16th O. V. I. and with a number of other soldiers was on board the Sultana when her boiler blew up. With a soldier named Stone from Newark Mr. Norris floated on a cracker barrel down the river seven miles to Memphis and then they saw the Sultana, which aided them aboard and later rescued 100 soldiers. Sixteen hundred soldiers were lost in the disaster.

GRANVILLE

(Special to The Advocate)

Granville, O., April 22.—The bleak, unseasonable weather of the past week has effectually halted the gardening activities of a large number of people in the village, old and young. However, preparations for recruiting school children in the work of the Liberty Garden are being perfected and soon the rules and regulations which are to govern the contest will be published.

A four acre plot of ground on the Burg street hill is being industriously farmed by eight of the Denison faculty who seem to find great pleasure in thus going "back to the soil."

On Saturday evening at the picture show in the Opera House there was a four-minute talk by H. W. Deming on the Liberty Loan and the War Chest Drive soon to be launched. He gave the county's total sale of bonds as over $1,000,000.

The War Chest funds are to be free will offerings to be devoted to relief and other war work calls, heretofore met by special drives.

At the conclusion of his talk, Mr. Deming introduced Mr. C. B. White of the Woman's Committee, Council of Defense, who spoke concisely but convincingly of the absolute necessity of the farmers' marketing their wheat by May 1, if government is to keep faith with the allies by sending 75,000,000 bushels. There will be no advantage in holding the wheat, the price will go no higher. Congress has settled that matter. Use potatoes and wheat substitutes, and do it cheerfully. Mrs. White's brief talk was well constructed and eloquently expressed.

The spring concert of the Shephardson college glee club was a delight to the audience assembled in Recital Hall Saturday evening. The choruses were well fitted to the fresh, pure youthful voices of the twenty-four girls, who sang with excellent effect the numbers of a well balanced program and who courteously responded to encores and double encores attesting the appreciation of the audience. The quartette composed of Misses Helen Ray, Lillian Eldridge, Laura Price and Margaret Seasholes, responded to one encore by singing a verse or two of a catchy original topical song and were repeatedly recalled thereafter until invention failed.

The club's contributions as scheduled were: "Come Down, Laughing Streamlet"; "Spross"; (a) "Serenade"; Schubert; (b) "Mammy's Lullaby"; Dvorak-Spross; "Water Lilies"; Linders, and "Four American Indian Songs"; Cadman. The quartet sang (a) "Mighty Like a Rose"; Kevin; (b) "Welcome Pretty Primrose Flower"; Pinsute. Miss Helen Russell sang a solo in charming manner and Miss Laura Price gave a clever reading, a "Penrad" story by Booth of Laura Price and Margaret Seasholes, director of the club deserves the warmest praise for the artistic success of the concert and Miss Laura Price as accompanist, contributed in no small degree to the musical excellence of the ensemble.

Prof. and Mrs. W. H. Johnson were in Columbus yesterday where they met their son Lowell in Union Station, en-route from Dallas, Texas to New York City and journeyed with him as far as Newark. The entire unit of fifty was entrained.

Our Boys and Girls

"Let not the sun go down on your anger," is one of the firm beliefs of a fond mother should impress on her little ones. From babyhood the little folks should be taught to settle each days accounts before their bedtime that they may sink quietly into refreshing sleep.

So fixed will this teaching become in their childish minds, that they will find it extremely easy to forgive the playmates who have wronged them. In cases where other children impose upon them, they should be urged to let them alone, and in any case, have the slate wiped clean of the petty cares of the child world every night.

By all means teach the children that it is just and noble and kind to forgive. They may be imposed upon occasionally by other children, but that is as nothing compared to a clear conscience and a clean feeling mind. There is real joy in forgiving.

Mothers should watch very carefully in hot weather for evidences of worms. If baby is inclined to be fussy and nervous, watch the bowel movements closely. Worms appear like little white threads and eight or ten would only measure an inch.

INSIDE SECRETS ABOUT CIRCUS BUSINESS HITHERTO UNPUBLISHED

(By Floyd King.)
The circus, in its magnitude and perfection, is strictly an American institution. It is a bridge of dreams, covering the chasm between childhood and old age. It is likened to a land of enchantment where fairies dance on the backs of prancing steeds and where knights and ladies disport themselves in purple gowns.

The circus is a recreation for all classes. Age cannot dim or custom stale its variety. Wealth nor poverty can destroy its magnificence. Neither can fine raiment or homespun cloth mitigate its joys. Seated side by side the youngsters of the rich are just as delighted and can obtain no more joyment than the penniless orphan, and the feats of horsemanship, thrilling aerial acts and brilliant humor of the clowns fall alike upon eager eyes and ears.

Greater wonder by far than all the curiosities and the performance of the circus is the really marvelous, stupendous system which governs every element of its smooth and certain operation upon such a gigantic scale, especially in this so-called "great American Circus."

Beneath the pomp and glitter of its tinsel life, amidst the odor of sawdust and naphtha there is a system of government whose scope and magnitude bewilders. Nor is any human institution more perfect in operation and detail. There is a popular misapprehension regarding the circus. Perhaps the aloofness of the circus people has given impetus to the wild and uncharitable rumors that it is a place of that favorite amusement, the small boy—boys from six to sixty.

The circus owner's knowledge must be largely specific and the fund of it is continuously enlarged by the reports of agents or scouts who are sent along the route. The first action is contemplated for an ensuing season. He has in his mind a photograph of every town and city of any size in the United States and Canada. He must know the location of the railroad yards and their relative position to the grounds where the show will exhibit. He must know what a particular offer in the way of a circus lot, what the conditions would be during a period of protracted rain, he must know that there are no bridges to be crossed that will not bear the heavy baggage wagons and cages, and that the elephants will refuse to cross—for the pachyderms know instinctively if a bridge will not sustain their weight and they will not be forced to attempt it under any circumstances.

Manager Will Vered.
The circus manager must have a general knowledge of all phases of National, State and Municipal law that will affect the operation of his show. He must know the amount and manner of collection; contracts, their form and power. He must know the price of provisions for man and beast; what the effect will be when the circus with its 1,000 employees and as many beasts suddenly swoop down for a single day's visit. He must be intimately acquainted with every phase of the railroad business, the material and construction of all kinds of cars, and their dimensions in order that the entire route of the show may not be hampered by a single tunnel that is too low or narrow—and instances of shows suffering severely from such causes are not infrequent when their managers and agents are inexperienced. The distance from one stand to another cannot always be taken into consideration. Often the circuses jump 200 miles and arrive in time for the usual parade and two performances.

At the general office in winter quarters will be found the proprietor, manager, both surrounded by their agents. These consist usually of a general agent, whose duties are described by his title; a railroad contracting agent; two or three agents who are known as "contracting agents" who are in the show grounds, arrange for live trees, bill-boards, provisions, etc.; the treasurer, who is a general press agent, whose duties are each written to write, write, whether he feels like it or not.

There is a tremendous amount of work done in the winter quarters of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus at West Baden, Ind., of which the public knows nothing. Rolling stock suffering from the hard effect of a seven months' campaign must be repaired; new acts and novelties must be secured to keep abreast with the times; agents are sent into the innermost recesses of the country for novelties. Europe is ransacked for performers with acts out of the ordinary.

Contractors Get Busy.
As soon as the route is laid out tentatively, agents are sent out making all sorts of contracts. The first man is the railroad contractor, he generally knows by the first name most of the important passenger agents in the United States, most often before he graduated into a full-fledged railroad contractor he took a few years' training in railroad offices and on the road.

The next out is the contracting agent who generally is six weeks ahead of the big show. Three weeks before the advent of the circus comes the advertising car No. 1 with 20 bill posters, banner men, and photographers. Another advertising car comes a week later. The men on this car restore all torn or damaged paper; bill posters are sent up and down every railroad entering the town for a distance of 40 miles, posting bills and distributing circus literature; no town or village is overlooked, the entire country is gridironed with the flaming circus posters.

In still another week the third and final advertising car comes and places some of the bills and repairs "checkers." Men whose duties are to account for every sheet of paper posted.

The circus specials, three in number, and each consisting of 20 extra double length cars, roll into the town about 5 o'clock in the morning on the day of the exhibition. The first section is known as the "flying squadron" baggage train, it starting the wants of immediate encampment, as follows: Stake and chain wagons, cook house, paraphernalia for feeding 1,000 people, stable wagons, side show wagons, harness and blacksmith wagons, canvas wagons, horses and two sleeping cars, bearing workmen and a part of the executive staff. Thirty minutes later the second section, the "property" wagons, the third and final section is made up entirely of Pullman sleepers bearing the performers and remaining attached to the train where breakfast will be ready for the workmen.

Meanwhile the boss caravanman has taken possession of the ground and he is master of the lot. The boss caravanman is a practical surveyor and from long experience he is able to tell where to place the various tents to the best advantage. Teams of horses pull the towering canvas poles into position. The monster tented palace which seats comfortably 3,000 people, is soon elevated and within the space of four hours the entire lot is still and transformed into a bustling and bustling city of tents. Over in a corner one can find a little red and white pole showing the location of the circus barber shop, not far away is the harness shop, a blacksmith shop and all the various institutions which go to make up a little city of 1,000 in population. On the show grounds may be found the circus physician, dentist, lawyer, veterinary surgeon and even an ordained minister of the gospel who preaches each Sunday afternoon.

With breakfast over, active preparation is made for the street parade, which leaves the show grounds at 10 o'clock to make a tour of the principal downtown streets. To the little folks who have never seen a circus parade it is the incarnation of all earthly glories. When the parade is over there is rest for everybody, save the side show people until after dinner. At 1 o'clock the doors to the big show are opened and one hour is allotted to visit the zoological zoologies. Thirty minutes before the big show begins, the military concert band of fifty soloists can be heard in a repertoire of classic and popular melodies. The performance proceeds with machine-like precision, which is obtained only by rigidly enforced discipline. Contrary to the popular belief the night performances are not "cut," but are given just as in the afternoon.

The evening performance begins at 8 o'clock and immediately starts the work of removal. The smaller tents for stables, repairs, wardrobe, lights and various other purposes are taken down and loaded into the huge baggage wagons, after which begins the haul back to the railroad yards. The animals which take part in the circus program appear as early as possible to the show grounds and are given a comfortable night's rest. As fast as a performer finishes a turn his appliances are removed and when the last chariot race is run on the hippodrome track the big tent is almost stripped. Contrary to the popular belief the night performances are not "cut," but are given just as in the afternoon.

We people of the circus have a high opinion of ourselves. As pilgrims with no abiding place, leading a life of multiplied activities and varied fortune, amid scenes of hurry and bustle, platform is courage, strength, ambition and energy, governed by a purpose to make the world brighter and the people more happy by us having lived in it. If we accomplished this we have not lived in vain.

The Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows, one of the largest circus organizations in the world, will arrive in Newark Tuesday, April 30. The show will come from Columbus. The paraphernalia and baggage wagons will be transferred to the circus grounds as quickly as possible where the temporary encampment will be taken. Performances will be given at 2 and 8 p. m. A monster three-mile street parade will leave the show grounds at 10 o'clock.

Perspiring for an Imaginary Ideal

SO many men have not yet enjoyed the comfort of special apparel for hot weather wear, that with every advertisement we write, we feel we are influencing men toward a common sense idea.

It seems many men imagine that wool—all wool and a vest are the first requisites of correct attire.

Not so today—we are showing many splendid fabrics of feather weight—excellently tailored and designed, that instead of impairing man's appearance, improve it.

GRAND.
"The Other Man."
 Three stars of national repute, and an absorbing story of great dramatic depth, are the elements which make "The Other Man," Vitaphone's newest offering, an attraction worth while. Harry Morey, Grace Darmond and Florence Deshon are the featured players. "The Other Man," which tells of an eminent surgeon who is dragged into the mire of degradation by his wife's mercurial and reclaimed to manhood by the devotion of a worthy girl, is entertaining, gripping, and pleasing to interest, and refreshing comedy situations, to make a photoplay of unusual interest at the Grand tonight and tomorrow.

AUDITORIUM.
"The Daughter of the Gods."
 A fairy fantasy of spectacular splendor is "A Daughter of the Gods," the William Fox production, which has netted Kellermann as the star, which was given for the first time at the Chestnut Street Opera House last evening.

The picture seems to reach the climax of cinema elaboration and realism, an intangible story in which maidens, gnomes, elves, fairies and human beings are united in a bewildering succession of changing scenes, having been staged on the coast, and the wave-swept rocks and in the caverns and ravines of Jamaica, West Indies. The beautiful natural background thus afforded is added the magnificence of an apparently complete Moorish city, erected for the purpose of this picture, and at the end with reckless extravagance consumed in flames.

The story is told with a prologue, a glimpse of childhood and its innocent belief in fairy folk. Nidia, a tiny maiden, has a pet bird, which escapes her and flies to its mate in a tree. Then a cat kills the bird and the child places the body of her pet in a tiny boat and sets it afloat on the water. Soon the little maiden, too, is lost, also drifting out to sea in a frail boat, to become the plighting of the mermaids, who change her into one of their kind.

From this the fantasy passes into many phases of improbability, which bewilder, but delightfully entertain as fleeting scenes of picturesque beauty blend and fade one into another.

Antia, the "Daughter of the Gods," seems in some mysterious way to be the little maiden of the prologue, and many are the adventures that cross her path. She is captured by a pirate, loves her, and after she is captured by slave dealers and becomes the favorite of the Sultan. Among the jealous courtiers, the former favorite who succeeds in having her condemned to death, she is cast into a pool of crocodiles, but the fairy of kindness who guards her path changes the beasts into swans, and she escapes.

Being recaptured, she is placed in a tower, from the top of which she leaps into the ocean, only to be pursued by slaves and once more burned at the stake, but is rescued by the Prince as the flames leap about her. Later, in a journey to Gnomeland, she is beaten and stoned, but is again saved by the good fairy. Thus the kaleidoscopic fantasy goes on and on, until the spectacle gives up the effort to understand what it is all about and surrenders to the charm of the spectacle.

Miss Kellermann has in her role every opportunity that she possibly could desire to show what she can do. One thing she does as to the clothes at any time and part of the time none at all, her famous figure being displayed to the best advantage.

A treat is promised Auditorium picture fans Wednesday, when "Exile" for a two day showing. All the elements of success—an actress of the calibre supported by a wonderful cast—a dynamic plot—breathless, soul-stirring moments—and finesse that Paramount requires in its productions. "Exile" was written by a poet and artist of literature, Dolf Wyllard, and the story is of the Far East and it has been staged in an extremely comprehensive and absorbingly interesting manner by Maurice Tourneur. "On the Ice" a Bob Fisher cartoon comedy, will be the added feature.

Charlie Chaplin.
 The following notice is taken from the New York Times:
 The Boston Post last Saturday contains the announcement that Charlie Chaplin was recently married to Edna Purviance, his leading lady.

The first of the First National Exhibitor's Circuit, Chaplin releases is having an exclusive showing at the Grand this week. Sunday, its first day, is reported to have broken the house record, in spite of rainy weather when most people preferred out door amusements.

The New York exhibitors who continued and refused to pay more than $50 per day for the First National's Chaplin releases, have just awakened to the fact that the picture, which they signed for Chaplin service at that price, contains a "joker" in the form of a clause which reads: "In the event of an increase of 25 per cent on the cost of service, no mention is made of any rebate in the event of a decrease in length. 'A Dog's Life' is 200 feet. When the normal release is made next week, the bills instead of being $50 per day, will be $62.50. The Strand Theatre anticipates at $25,000 the business on the week with the feature, which is the record business for that theatre.

"A Dog's Life" comes to Mr. Fenberg's show house, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

"The Land of Promise."
 From the busy streets and thronging avenues of New York City, the men and women live by millions within narrow areas and in deep canyon-like streets, to the broad, open prairies of Canada is the journey taken by the completion of her first Paramount picture, "The Land of Promise," which tells of the adventures of a young man and woman who travel across the continent and find a new life in the West.

The picture "A Dog's Life" is a comedy which tells of a dog who is adopted by a family and who becomes a member of the family. The picture is a comedy which tells of a dog who is adopted by a family and who becomes a member of the family.

LYRIC.
Triangle Girls.
 Lovers of good clean comedy, clever singing and dancing, will be given a real treat this week when Danny Lund and his Triangle Girls appear at the Lyric theatre. Mr. Lund needs no introduction to Newark audiences, as this is his second appearance here this season, and everyone is guaranteed a hearty laugh. Beside good wholesome comedy, there is an up-to-date chorus of giddy, gaudy girls, with new costumes and rich voices to round out the harmony. The arrangement is handled by Bob Shinn in a commendable manner, who also has a voice that demands attention. In added attraction this year will be the appearance of Miss Phemie Lockhart, a widely known prima donna, in a repertoire of new and classical numbers. The special features in connection with the show include The Ukulele Quartette, who render up-to-date songs in language, toneable manner. Jack Kinnear and Charles Martin in a congestion of comedy they call "Silly Nonsense," and Danny Smith and Gladys Glen in their unusual offering of comedy, song and dances. The first bill presented will be "The King of Hearts," a side-splitting bill with a laugh in every line. It is the story of an old dervish who went "below," and during the absence of the devil is made king. From then on the laugh continues. On Wednesday a new bill will be presented. Also a change on Friday and Saturday.

LIFE OF CIRCUS GIRLS.
 The insatiable desire of the stage for young and pretty girls, even if without noteworthy talent, does not have a counterpart with the circus. Fortunately for these innumerable recruits for the stage, youth and beauty do not survive, and when these two qualities are not coupled with ability of a decided order, these girls find themselves miserably afflicted in the fustian and jettison of great cities.

Veterans of the Hazenbeck-Wallace Circus, which comes to Newark on Tuesday, April 22, declare they have never known of a corresponding instance amidst the life of the white tents. There are about 1,000 employees with the Hazenbeck-Wallace show, nearly 400 of whom are women.

As a matter of fact, the majority of circus girls are the most refined, healthiest and the cleanest minded young women ever assembled together. Many of the so-called "circus" married women with young daughters and sons, who are also with the circus. There is little difference between the girls of the circus and the refined, home-loving girls who live in comfortable, refined homes, except that the life of the circus girl is in the open air, and she has a better opportunity to develop both physically and mentally.

Life behind the red curtain which separates the dressing rooms from the rest of the circus is not unlike that of a big family in camp. Here the women do their sewing, their laundry, their reading and writing and the instruction of their young children. Nobody molests them, no profanity is allowed to reach their ears, and the atmosphere in which they live is as refined and respectable as it would be in the best regulated home. Circus girls are home-loving, family people at heart and not at all like the miscegenated public is prone to consider them.

Many entire families, ranging from grandparents to year-old children, travel with the Hazenbeck-Wallace show and know all the comforts and privacy of home life. In some of the fine acts three generations of a family are performing on the same stage. Most of the really great circus performers of today are descendants of a long line of circus artists, and the circus is in their chosen field is largely due to the heritage of clean living and clean thinking that has been handed down from generation to generation.

no "acting." Every move is made with the undisguised grace of naturalness. What is more natural than that Lily Morton should have a suitor to the invitation of her less scrupulous girl friend, to obtain money and jewels as "some other do?" There was no ill intent. The step was taken to satisfy a woman's vanity.

It can be said that Florence Reed has never been either behind the footlights or before the camera in a more entrancing role than that which she presents of Lily Morton, the wife who loses courage and bows to the mock intreaties of an unprincipled woman companion. Her love for the material things in this life outbalances her love for the home only because her will power can not withstand or compete with the influence of a friend. Frank Mills has every consideration for the part he presents of the husband, Gus Weinberg, and Alice Gale as the unsuspecting, and confiding, old couple who are the husband's parents, might have been caught by the camera after years of such a life, so actual were their interpretations of their homely roles. COLLEGES MAY ADOPT BOXING

Chicago, April 22.—The advisability of adding boxing to the regular list of college competitive sports was discussed at a recent meeting of the managing committee of the Western Intercollegiate Athletic Association and a committee was appointed to determine how it can be made a legitimate sport for conference colleges, it became known today.

According to Avery Brundage, president of the managing committee and chairman of the committee to investigate the relation of boxing to intercollegiate athletics, most athletic directors of the big ten colleges will favor the sport, if it can be made a legitimate sport for conference colleges, it became known today.

In only two states where conference colleges are situated is boxing allowed—Minnesota and Wisconsin. Local opposition prevails in Iowa, Indiana and Ohio, while the sport is forbidden in the other states.

CHARGED WITH A SERIOUS OFFENSE BY RAILROAD CO.

Ira Pense and Samuel Sherrard, both young men about 19 years, were arrested Saturday by Constable Emmett Forgives on an affidavit sworn out by the Pennsylvania Railroad company, charging them with breaking into a caboose and stealing a loaf of bread, a flash-light and other articles. Both boys have been in trouble a number of times before and at the present time Sherrard is out on a suspended sentence to the Mansfield reformatory and will probably be sent to that institution.

ARTHUR DEVLIN LEAVES FOR FRANCE

Sometime ago the call came from the government for experienced clerks to handle American mail in France and among the list of applicants was Arthur R. Devlin, 40 North Morris street, this city, and who for the past 10 years has been an employe of the Newark postoffice.

This past week Mr. Devlin received a telegram that his application had been favorably passed upon and to report in Washington, D. C., for final instructions and equipment for the overseas service. Accordingly he left Sunday evening for Washington where he will receive instructions pertaining to service in the United States postoffice in France. It will be necessary for him to visit the French embassy to have his passports issued to Paris. Application was made for this work when the United States first joined the allies in the European war. The appointment is complimentary and the call, being made for an experienced expert clerk, one willing to perform this duty under arduous conditions.

Mr. Devlin has the endorsements of the local Carriers' and Clerks' Association and Congressman Ashbrook, and was chosen from a list of applicants over the states. He will be required to serve for the period of the war and at the conclusion of the service is entitled to re-instatement to his former position.

The military authorities of the United States require him to be attired in regulation uniform, which is olive drab with white brassard above left elbow, insignia "P. S." in red, "U. S." on collar. Above requirements are and conform to postmaster general's order of June 16, 1916.

This will be, indeed, a great experience as well as a patriotic duty for this young man and his friends all join in wishing for him a safe journey overseas, a faithful and efficient service, and a safe return.

There is a spirit and marked degree of sacrifice in taking a step like this, voluntarily separating one self from home and friends, but it should be remembered that these are epoch-making days for all true Americans. From Washington Mr. Devlin goes to New York where he does the uniform and then sails for France.

EPILEPTIC FITS FOR 9 YEARS

Indianapolis Woman Nearly Loses Mind—Now Restored to Health.

The story of this wonderful recovery better told in the letter from Miss Kate Schottle, 5 Meridian St., Indianapolis:

"I have had what is supposed to be an incurable case of Epileptic fits of nine years' standing. They were so severe that I nearly lost my mind entirely. I became a great burden to my folks, as I could not be left alone. Five years ago last August the blessing of health came to our house in the form of Hull's Superlative Compound. I began to improve from the start and my general health commenced to build up and the following April I had the last spell. Before this I tried almost everything that we would hear of, but without any good results. By the use of the Superlative my mind was restored and also my general health. It has been five years since I had the last attack and my health has been almost perfect all the time. I feel thankful to the Lord for a remedy that is such a great blessing to suffering humanity."

What Hull's Superlative has done for Miss Schottle, bringing health and happiness to her and her family it will do for others afflicted with this horrible malady.

Hull's Superlative is sold by all druggists on a positive money-back guarantee; and any man or woman who is sick or ailing—no matter what the condition or how serious—should lose no time in taking this preparation, for if it does not help you your money will be returned.—Advertisement.

New Records For Your Talking Machine

Mery Zentay has become a Columbia artist. At four she first began to play the violin and at the age of seven she was playing it in public. She was the favorite pupil of Haydn. Her first two records are Rubinstein's "Melody in F" and the Barcarolle from "The Tales of Hoffmann," both of which she plays with a perfection that fully explains her notable success on both sides of the Atlantic.

Arthur Fields, with the assistance of the Peerless Quartette, has recently recorded one of the famous "hike" songs of the war for Columbia. It is McKenna's "Any Old Place the Gang Goes, I'll Be There." On the other side the Peerless Quartette sings "Faugh-A-Ballah."

Notable records of "Where Is My Wandering Boy To-Night," and "Jesus Lover of My Soul" have been made for Columbia by Henry Burr, tenor, with the Peerless Quartette.

Prince's Band has two new melody one-steps in Columbia's May List. They are based upon "Tom Dick and Harry" and "Jack Hurry Back" but in each case three other popular airs are introduced to make long dancing records.

Thornton W. Burgess' latest Bed-time Stories for children in Columbia's May List are "How Old Mr. Toad Won a Race" and "How Old Mr. Toad Happened to Dine with Buster Bear." They show no drop from the highly interesting plane of his previous records.

"The Lizard and the Frog" is the title of an orchestral sketch lately played for Columbia by Prince's Orchestra. On the other side they present Lange's "Arabian Serenade" with its Oriental background and with its haunting strains of street music.

Sousa's famous old march, "Hands Across the Sea," has been revived by Columbia and appears in that company's May List of records. Prince's Band registered the music of this thrilling old timer and also that of "Anchor's Aweigh," the march occupying the other side of the disc.

Nellie Hoone Wetmore, cornet virtuoso, makes her bow to the Columbia audience in this month's records. Her first two pieces are "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" and "Old Folks at Home," and her phrasing is remarkable for a girl of her youth.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

Editor of The Advocate—It is with a degree of appreciation beyond my ability to express that I acknowledge receipt of the handsome medal which came yesterday. * * * It may interest you to know that this is my third attempt to enter the service. The first time being at the officers' training school at Fort Snelling, Minn., where I was unable to finish training on account of an attack of asthma. I entered an application for admission to the national army at Des Moines, but owing to the fact that I was of draft age my application was not accepted as no one of draft age is permitted to volunteer in the national army, except by special permission from the war department.

After making the second attempt I decided I had made enough effort and would wait till I was called, but after six weeks at my former position I discovered that I had the desire to go too strongly and accordingly enlisted as a regular in the navy on January 9.

After serving a three weeks' detention period we have three to four months' training then a 10 days' furlough, after which we are sent to sea. I might write pages relative to our work, conditions, etc., but as I presume the space for these letters is limited I will not go into details. Suffice to say, that conditions at this station are ideal to the minutest detail.

There are two things which I wish to refer to that cannot be emphasized too strongly—first, the work of the Y. M. C. A. It is doing a wonderful work and cannot be praised too highly nor appreciated fully except by those in the camps who are receiving the benefits of their efforts.

The other is concerning writing to those in service. If the people back home could understand what those letters mean to the men and boys in camps they would write more than some of them now do.

Trusting I may have the opportunity of seeing some of my Newark friends in the near future, and again thanking you for the medal, I am, very truly, E. S. Miller, Company B, Regiment 1, Camp Dewey, Great Lakes, Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. Corwin Green, North Hollander street, also received the following letter from Private Hook, who is in France:

"Somewhere in France, March 14, 1918:

"Dear Friend—I received your card, dated February 8, which was addressed to Hempstead. I was very glad to hear from you, but you must of being asleep this winter if you do not know that we have left the states. We have been over four months.

"I think that I wrote you a letter after arriving over here. We are having ideal weather at the present time. We have been in the trenches. It was very wet at that time. We slept in dugouts about 20 feet under ground. Some of the French villages are nice to look at but not very pleasant to be in. A restaurant sign in this country is almost a joke; always a saloon connected with it, and very hard to get anything to eat as long as they can sell anything to drink. And when you do get it everything is served separate—first, soup, then potatoes, bread and butter, meat, salad, then jam, and at last, coffee. They drink a lot of red wine over here. I have not seen a Frenchman take a drink of water since I have been here. I have seen villages almost all knocked to pieces by shell-fire and airplanes. We can look out most any day and see a German plane. It is interesting to watch a fight in the air. People here wear wooden shoes when it is muddy, and they have a wash-house in town; everybody goes there to wash; no washboard, just a brush and a paddle. The houses are all built out of stone and have tile roofs.

"I have seen one frame house built out of wood since I have been here. Once in a while you see a slate roof. You can find buildings here that are 200 to 300 years old, and people that look to be almost that old. There is no country homes all live in town and drive out to farms.

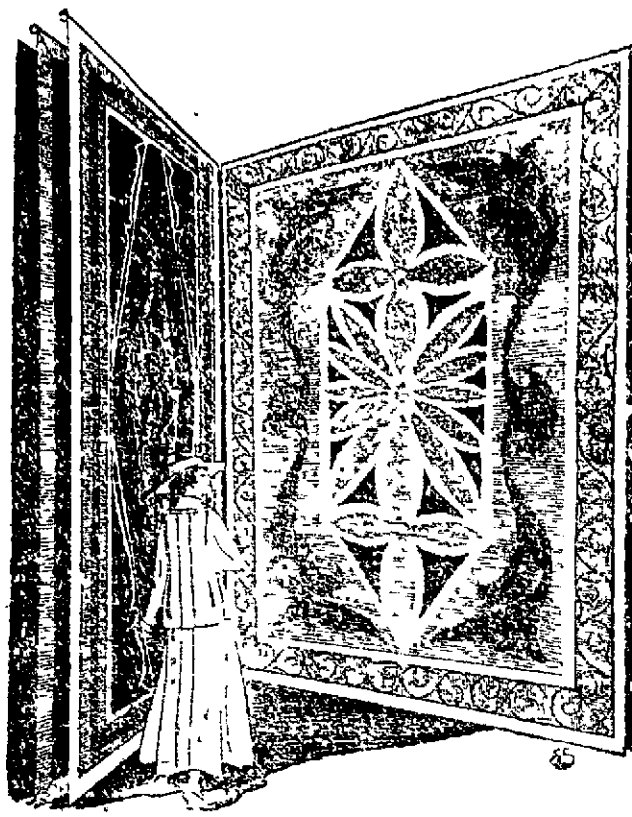

"I have seen two milk cows, one oxen and a horse, hitched up together. Sometimes they will have six animals hitched to a plow. Not very many of them have a wagon. They use a big cart, and as a rule hitch three horses, one right ahead of another.

"There are some nice girls here, but it is a hard task for me to speak enough French to get by. I would send a picture to you if I could.

"I will close, hoping to receive a letter the next time. Yours truly, Edward L. Hook, private, Co. B, 166th Infantry, A. E. F., via New York City."

Editor of The Advocate—Appreciative, indeed, of the pride of the "folks back home" in the boys of "Old Licking," who are with the colors, as so finely expressed in the shape of the bronze medal just received, permit me to express to you, and through you to the people of

LICKING IS 10TH AMONG 88 COUNTIES IN WAR SAVINGS

(Special to The Advocate)

Columbus, O., April 22.—In the sale of War Savings stamps to date Licking county ranks first among the twenty-four counties whose population ranges from 41,000 to 100,000 and in the 88 counties of Ohio, Licking county ranks tenth.

It is an interesting fact that the leading counties so far as per capita sales go are the smaller counties of the state. Ashland ranks first with per capita sales of $19.32, Marion second $8.61, Morrow third $8.57, Holmes fourth $7.60, Coshocton fifth $7.20, Jackson sixth $6.70, Fayette seventh $6.32, Knox eighth $6.27, Highland ninth $6.19, Licking tenth $6.09, Clark eleventh $6.08. Hamilton county's sales are $2.82 per capita and that county is No. 42, Franklin (Columbus) $2.42, Lucas (Toledo) $2.02, Cuyahoga $1.65, Montgomery $1.60.

The sales of War Savings stamps in Cleveland are running as high as $200,000 a week but Cleveland's quota is $300,000 weekly. The sales there are elsewhere over Ohio are growing.

Ohio with the population of 5,260,000, reports sales of $4,465,033, while New York with more than twice the population reports $4,415,412 and Pennsylvania with 8,701,000 people reports $3,826,000. Ohio sales are also greater than those of Illinois, Missouri, Indiana and Michigan.

TO HELL, BILL.

The Devil and Kaiser Bill are mated so well. He can look for some trouble down in Hell. Of what kind of trouble I really can't say. But there is going to be some, if Bill don't have his way.

The Devil himself is an arrogant chap. He thinks he owns everything on the map. Of course Kaiser Bill thinks the same. So in Hell Kaiser Bill will give the D—no show.

The Kingdom of Hell will soon begin. Ruled by the former Emperor of Berlin. And down there forever the Kaiser will. The ruler of Hell and out of our way. C. M. E.

Newark and Licking county, my heartfelt thanks for their thoughtfulness and generosity. If "Old Licking" is proud of her boys, the boys are proud of "Old Licking" and when the call comes will fight the harder for having with them this token of the pride of the "folks back home." It is a constant reminder that those for whom this war is being waged have not forgotten, and will not forget. In conclusion, I desire to thank you, too, for the mighty fine letter accompanying the medal, and to reiterate my sincere thanks to each and every one who contributed to this fund. As their thoughts and prayers are with me, so will my thoughts and prayers be with them. Sincerely ever faithfully, Private Walter Langstaff, U. S. Marine Corps, Naval Ammunition Depot, Dover, N. J.

Hiram Hammond of Alexandria, has received the following letter from Edward L. Hook, member of Company B, 166th Infantry, who is in France:

"Somewhere in France, March 15, 1918.

"Dear Friend—I am now going to fulfill my promise, if I am a little bit late in writing to you. We are having very nice weather at the present time and we certainly appreciate it. The winter here is not as cold as back. You could hear the bullets awful damp. I saw the trees loaded with ice without any rain, snow or sleet. They have no country homes in France. They all live in the villages, and then drive out to the farm. The houses and barns are all built together. You can step out of the bedroom into the cowshed. They are all built of stone and have tile roofs. We have been in the trenches and had a few shots at the Germans. Naturally, they would fire back. You could hear the bullets whistling: 'Where are you?' The big shells you can hear about five seconds before they get to you. I think that they make nice music to hear them going the other way, than when they are coming. Some of the villages are almost ruined by shell-fire. Those big shells are dangerous. We try not to be too close when they land. They will throw shrapnel almost a half mile. How are you and the misses feeling this year? I am feeling fine. Did Roe get the letter I wrote him. I cannot see where we are going to get home this year. We are going to win this war. But it is going to take some time. I think I will close, hoping to hear from you soon. Your friend Edward L. Hook, private, Co. B, 166th Infantry, A. E. F., via New York City."

"I have seen one frame house built out of wood since I have been here. Once in a while you see a slate roof. You can find buildings here that are 200 to 300 years old, and people that look to be almost that old. There is no country homes all live in town and drive out to farms.

"I have seen two milk cows, one oxen and a horse, hitched up together. Sometimes they will have six animals hitched to a plow. Not very many of them have a wagon. They use a big cart, and as a rule hitch three horses, one right ahead of another.

"There are some nice girls here, but it is a hard task for me to speak enough French to get by. I would send a picture to you if I could.

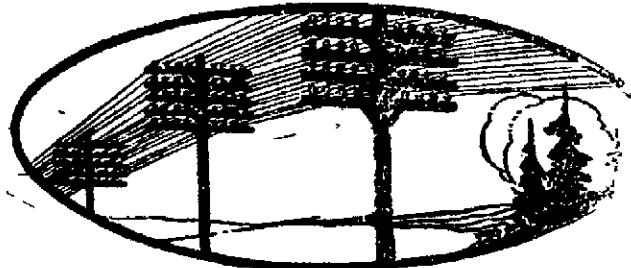

"I will close, hoping to receive a letter the next time. Yours truly, Edward L. Hook, private, Co. B, 166th Infantry, A. E. F., via New York City."

Editor of The Advocate—Appreciative, indeed, of the pride of the "folks back home" in the boys of "Old Licking," who are with the colors, as so finely expressed in the shape of the bronze medal just received, permit me to express to you, and through you to the people of Sty Fox Hard to Catch.

In every country the fox is the synonym for cunning, and he well merits the appellation. From centuries of chasing he has developed an acute sense little short of human, and if it were not for the trained fox hounds man might hunt him in vain until he died of old age. As it is, there is many a sly old fox who has baffled the hunters for years.

Back in the forties, when San Francisco was twenty days from New York and Europe was another planet, cities were mostly interested in themselves.

Newspapers had space only for the city hall reporter, weddings and other local happenings.

But as American life expanded into national, and then international compass, people demanded news from other cities and countries.

And so, in 1848, the publishers of a number of leading American newspapers formed a mutual organization which was named the Associated Press.

In effect, these newspapers combined their newsgathering staffs, supplying each other with the important news, each within his own particular territory.

Later were added special Associated Press correspondents and foreign correspondents. Incidentally, a vast organization was set on foot to transmit the dispatches over the telegraph wires. From this beginning has grown the great Associated Press of to-day. Its membership reaches into almost every city and town of importance in the country—1,080 are on the rolls. It commands the services of 52,000 special correspondents, and its foreign correspondents cover every city in the civilized world. It operates 22,000 miles of leased telegraph wires every day, and 30,000 miles every night. It is the largest and most efficient news gathering organization in the world.
